

HAPPY JACK DERMAPLEX in your dog's food daily should help prevent the re-occurrence of the skin condition.

HAPPY JACK, INC.

Ashe B. Exum

913 South Heron Circle
Winter Haven, Florida 33880
July 23, 1985

Happy Jack, Inc.
Snow Hill, N.C. 28580

Gentlemen:

I am writing first to praise one of your products and, second, to ask if perhaps you could be of assistance with a problem I have with one of my pets.

I cannot say enough in praise of "Skin Balm" manufactured by Happy Jack. One of my dogs is part Cocker and I had been taking her to the vet on the average of every three weeks for a skin condition my vet had diagnosed as an allergy. She actually had quite a bit of her fur chewed off and terrible red sores in the chewed areas. She had about a two inch rim chewed all around her tail and I was convinced the fur would never grow back. This had been going on for about 2-1/2 to 3 years and I had finally decided I would have to have her put to sleep.

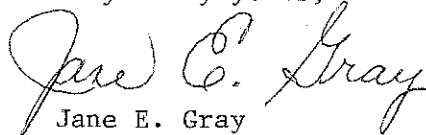

A pet grooming establishment in Winter Haven recommended I try using "Skin Balm" and I could not believe the difference in her condition in just a week's time. All the redness completely disappeared and the sores eventually cleared up. I would not be without your product in my home.

Now, for the problem. "Skin Balm" clears the problem up when it occurs the problems still does periodically occur. I notice that the problem seems to exist only in the summer months. Her long fur, coupled with the heat of Florida, may complicate the condition. She is a house dog (in an air-conditioned home) and uses a concrete runway when she must go out. She is on a special diet of I/D Prescription Food by Hills which I purchase from the vet, as well as a special shampoo he recommends. Is there any product you can recommend to help alleviate this problem before it even begins? The "Skin Balm" cures it, however, I would like to try and curb or prevent the condition entirely.

I have such faith and confidence in "Skin Balm" that I would truly appreciate an opinion and any suggestions or comments you may have. The problem is not caused by fleas as she does not seem to have any. I am open to any and all suggestions - whether it be a food, a shampoo, a supplement, etc.

Many, many thanks for whatever assistance you may be able to offer.

Very truly yours,

Jane E. Gray

HAPPY JACK DERMAPLEX in your dog's food daily should help prevent the re-occurrence of the skin condition.

HAPPY JACK, INC.

Ashe B. Exum

913 South Heron Circle
Winter Haven, Florida 33880
July 23, 1985

Happy Jack, Inc.
Snow Hill, N.C. 28580

Gentlemen:

I am writing first to praise one of your products and, second, to ask if perhaps you could be of assistance with a problem I have with one of my pets.

I cannot say enough in praise of "Skin Balm" manufactured by Happy Jack. One of my dogs is part Cocker and I had been taking her to the vet on the average of every three weeks for a skin condition my vet had diagnosed as an allergy. She actually had quite a bit of her fur chewed off and terrible red sores in the chewed areas. She had about a two inch rim chewed all around her tail and I was convinced the fur would never grow back. This had been going on for about 2-1/2 to 3 years and I had finally decided I would have to have her put to sleep.

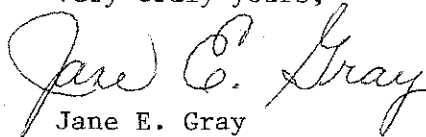

A pet grooming establishment in Winter Haven recommended I try using "Skin Balm" and I could not believe the difference in her condition in just a week's time. All the redness completely disappeared and the sores eventually cleared up. I would not be without your product in my home.

Now, for the problem. "Skin Balm" clears the problem up when it occurs. However, the problems still does periodically occur. I notice that the problem seems to exist only in the summer months. Her long fur, coupled with the heat of Florida, may complicate the condition. She is a house dog (in an air-conditioned home) and uses a concrete runway when she must go out. She is on a special diet of I/D Prescription Food by Hills which I purchase from the vet, as well as a special shampoo he recommends. Is there any product you can recommend to help alleviate this problem before it even begins? The "Skin Balm" cures it, however, I would like to try and curb or prevent the condition entirely.

I have such faith and confidence in "Skin Balm" that I would truly appreciate an opinion and any suggestions or comments you may have. The problem is not caused by fleas as she does not seem to have any. I am open to any and all suggestions - whether it be a food, a shampoo, a supplement, etc.

Many, many thanks for whatever assistance you may be able to offer.

Very truly yours,

Jane E. Gray